

customME

customME is a union of professionals who design and manufactures different types of project specifications dictated by the customer. The name itself is synonymous with freedom of expression and openness of the client's mental customME, making any type of project that fits completely requests to the market and the customer, because the market is the customer.

customME employs a psychological protection against piracy, that is, disclosure and copying of material of any kind, this type of protection experimental, but functional, allows you to fully engage the customer. So that the same will be the owner of the rights to copy and sell it, and personally take care to protect his investment.

Investment, because every project carried out by customME is an investment by the customer, who, not only can count on a project that is fully adapted to the specifications, but also ongoing support and comprehensive.

customME is completed by the union of areas dedicated to working together for the realization of complex projects.

Areas of integration:

- CustomSoft: software projects
- CustomNet: projects, networks, Web, distributed systems
- Custommedia: multimedia projects
- CustomTV: broadcast radio and TV projects

Further information is available through the documentation of the areas mentioned.

customME

info@elvio.org